Conduct a Political Campaign. 2
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—The national committee of the national Democratic party held a meeting to-day immediately after the convention had adjourned. It was decided to have an executive committee of nine to manage the campaign, and W. D. Bynum was selected without opposition for chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Bynum was appointed to select the other members of the executive committee.

appointed to select the other memoers of the executive committee.

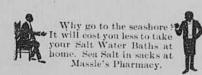

John P. Frenzol, of Indianapolis, was chosen for treasurer, but the choice of a secretary was left to the committee. Both the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates will be notified of their nomination in Louisville on September 12. Headquarters of the executive committee will probably be located in Chi-

When Mr. Bynum was asked whether the organization would send out speak-ers and literature he replied:

"All that I can say now is that we will conduct a political campaign."

A number of names not heretofore announced were added to the national committee to complete the representation of States, including W. R. Davie, of South Carolina.

mer received 757 1-2 votes and Bragg 124 1-2.

At its conclusion the commander of the iron brigade mounted a chair, and in a brief, but graceful speech, moved that the nomination be made unanimous, and pledged that he and Wisconsin in the coming battle would be "where brave soldiers should always be, nearest the flashing of the guns." He was given three hearty cheers, and General Palmer was declared the nominee amid an enthusiastic demonstration, during which the State guidons were carried about the hall in the wake of the standard of Illinois.

There never was any doubt about General Buckner's nomination for Vice-President, except while the nominations were being talked for Senator Palmer for President. When Chairman Caffery instructed the secretary to call the States for nominations for Vice-President the latter called but one State, "Kentucky," and the band struck up "My Old Kentucky Home. William F. Brodder, of Russellville, Ky., placed General Buckner's name formally in nomination, and the nomination was forthwith made unanimous.

After the convention had adjourned, unanimous.

After the convention had adjourned, Senator Palmer succumbed. He said he would accept. He had never yet failed to respond to the call of duty, he said, and he could not do so now with such a cause at stake.

SKETCH OF THE VICTIM.

The Varied Career of the Bolting Convention's Candidates.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—John McAuley Palmer, of Springfield, was born in Scotteounty, Ky., September 13, 1817; removed with his father to Madison county, III., in 1831; attended the common schools in Kentucky and Illinois, and entered Alton (now Shurtleff) College in 1835, where he remained a year, paying his expenses, which were very small, by his labor. In 1838 he taught school and studied law, and in December, 1839, was admitted to the bar. In 1843 was elected probate judge, and in November of the same year was elected county judge. In 1852 was elected to the State senate to fill a vacancy; was elected again in November, 1854, as an independent anti-Nebraska candidate. He was a delegate to the convention in Philadelphia, in 1850, which nominated John C. Fremont; in 1859 was a candidate for Congress; in 1860 was one of the electors at large on the Republican ticket, and was elected; was elected colonel of the Fourteenth Regiment of Illinois Infantry; was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers in November, 1861; in March and April, 1862 commanded a division under General Pope in the operation against New Madrid and Island No. 10, and later took part in the operations against Corinth; took part in the battle of Murfreesboro in December, 1862, and in January, 1863, and was promoted to major-general of volunteers: took part in the operations against the Confederate army, commanded by General Bragg, on its retreat via Tullahoma, to Chattanooga; commanded by General Bragg, on its retreat via Tullahoma, to Chattanooga; commanded the Fourteenth Army Corps in October, 1863; took part in the operations around Chattanooga, including the battle of Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge in November, 1864; commanded the Fourteenth Corps in the Atlanta campaign, and was relieved at his own request August 4, 1864; commanded the military department of Kentucky The Varied Career of the Bolting Convention's Candidates. Ridge in November, 1863; in 1864 commanded the Fourteenth Corps in the Atlanta campaign, and was relieved at his own request August 4, 1864; commanded the military department of Kentucky from February, 1865, to May 1, 1866; resignation accepted September 1, 1866; removed to Springfield in 1867; was elected governor of Illinois in 1868; was one of the Democratic visitors to Louisiana after the Presidential campaign in 1876; was nominated as a candidate for United States Senator by the Democratic members of the legislature in January, 1877, and was twice nominated for the same office and defeated; was delegate at large to the national Democratic convention as candidate for governor, and was defeated; in 1890, was nominated by the Democrats of the State as 'candidate for Senator; carried the State by 30,000 plurality; 101 Democratic members of the legislature were elected who voted for him for 133 ballots; on the 134th ballot the independents united with the Democrats, and he was elected United States Senator. His term will expire March 3, 1897.

NEGRO REGISTRARS.
Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 3—It is understood here to-day that Populist Chairman Ayer has appointed in Craven county negro Republican registrars. The new law provides for one registrar from each party, the decision of the majority to be final. Ayer said when questioned this afternoon that he did not know whether they were negroes or not and as to their they were negroes or not, and as to their being Populists, they might be Populists who had come over from the Republibeing Populists, they might be Populists who had come over from the Republicans, but he did not know. He added that the fact that they had been recommended by the county Populist chairman and had accepted was good enough evidence for him that they were Populists. It is quite possible that further complications of this nature will arise from similar constructions of the alleged party allegiance of registrars that may be reafter legiance of registrars that may be be appointed.

THE G. A. R.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—The grand army convention to-day voted to meet next year in Buffalo. The business meeting was large and was occupied in hearing reports and listening to Grand Commander Walker's annual address. The report of A. J. Burbank, quartermaster general, showed receipts of $30, 354, and expenditures of $19,775, leaving a balance on hand of $19,575. The assets are $12,131," and the investments $16,000. In his report Inspector General William H. Olin said that the amount expended in charity for the year was $211,249, an increase of $12,000 over the preceding year.

the Handicap Race.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3—Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner is 75 years old and was born in Hart county, in the southern part of Kentucky, and still lives in the log cabin in which he was born. This log cabin was built by the general's father over 100 years ago and the only time that he has lived away from his birthplace was when he was governor of his native State. The General has added to the original cabin and he now has one of the most picturesque homes in the State. At West Point he graduated in the same class with Gen. Grant.

State. At West Point he graduated in the same class with Gen. Grant.

Gen. Buckner has been married twice and his present wife is a direct descendent of one of the oldest settlers in this country, and her families of Virginia. He was the Democratic gold standard candidate for United States Senator in Kentucky last winter, but owing to the troublesome times he withdrew from the race and no one was elected.

Gen. Buckner is worth something over $1,000,000, nearly all of which is invested in farm lands and real estate. He is quite a poet, having written a number of very creditable verses.

When the civil war came on Buckner resided in Kentucky and was made adjutant general of the State, with command of the State guard, and during the siege at Fort Donaldson, Buckner was third in command of the fort. Grant surrounded the fort on all sides and after the attacks of February 13 and 14 the Confederate forces saw that further resistance would be fruitless and the senior generals turned the command over to Buckner and in the evening departed by boats. Buckner quickly realizing that his situation was hopeless, at once decided to surrender.

High Washington Officials Endorse the Latest Nominations.

Washington, Sept. 3.—Two members of President Cleveland's Cabinet, Secretary Carlisle and Secretary Francis, tonight expressed themselves in strong complimentary terms of the nominations of Messrs. Palmer and Buckner by the Indian analysis on your time to day and a third Indianapolis convention to-day, and a third member of the Cabinet, Secretary Lamont, while declining to be interviewed, incidentally remarked as to the personality of the nominees that "they are good Democrats." The Democrats and Populists of Nebraska Have Agreed.

Have Agreed.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 3.—After nearly an ail night session the State 'central committees of the Democrat and Populist parties, without apparent friction, practically agreed upon the details of the plan for fusion on electoral and State tickets. This includes the endorsement by the Democrats of the State ticket, nominated by the Populists at Hastings on August 5; the acceptance by the Populists of a Democratic candidate for attorney general to fill the vacancy left on the lists of a Democratic candidate for attorney general to fill the vacancy left on the Hastings ticket, and the selection of four Populist electors, who will be nominated by the Democrats. This agreement was made by the Democratic State central committee subject to the ratification of the State convention. Both committees named conference committees.

The Democratic State convention meets in this city to morrow forencon, and the

in this city to-morrow forenoon, and the leaders prominent in last night's council assert that the fusion deal will be unanimously endorsed. This arrangement leaves but little for the Democrats to fight over. The only place on the State ticket in dispute is that of attorney general, while the places on the electoral ticket necessarily will be limited to four. For the nomination of attorney general. For the nomination of attorney general there are three contestants on the ground—C. J. Smith, of Omaha; H. L. Travis, of Plattsburg, and Edward Falloon, of Falls City. It seems quite generally conceded that the Omaha man will get the place.
